M'NAB IN NEW BROADSIDE RAPS M'REYNOLDS DEFENSE IN WHITE SLAVE SCANDAL

W. W. Cook of No. 41 Wall street, who acts as attorney for Mr. Mackay and is his co-trustee in the Harbor Hill trust, said today when asked about the whereabouts of Mr. Mackay and his children:

"I have no information to give anybody about the Mackays and shall have none. I do not feel at liberty to discuss their affairs."

At the office of the Postal Telegraph Company inquirers were referred to Mr. Cook, who, it was said, would give out "all necessary information."

Officials of the Hamburg-American Company, when asked if Mr. Mackay had engaged passage on the Imperator, said: "It is sometimes the case that persons sailing on our ships ask us that we shall not make the news of their sailing public. For this reason we cannot answer such a question."

HAD TO SUMMON CONSTABLE TO PUT OUT BUTLER.

A week ago a butler who had been employed in the Harbor Hill House since the time when Mr. Mackay lived there was summarily discharged by Mrs. Mackay because he was said to be peddling information to persons in New York interested in the affairs of the household. He refused to leave, saying that Mr. Mackay, who had employed him, was the only person who had the authority to dismiss him.

Mrs. Mackay telephoned to Constable Tindall and the butler was forcibly removed to the gates of the estate and told to stay away. He took a train for New York and has not been seen in Brooklyn since. The incident was reported by the residents of Brooklyn as an indication that an acute situation was developing.

Henry W. Taft of No. 40 Wall street, brother of former President Taft, is the attorney for Mrs. Mackay, and all inquiries regarding the sailing for Europe of her husband and children, beyond her statement to The Evening World, were referred to him by her.

12 CHILDREN FALL INTO CELLAR WHEN GRATING BREAKS

Crowd, Watching Injured Negro Lad, Receive Cuts and Bruises of Their Own.

In their anxiety to see a little boy who was cut in his scalp more than a dozen persons, mainly children, were precipitated through a grating today and received cuts of their own. The incident occurred in front of David Friedman's tailor shop at No. 287 Madison avenue.

The injured lad, a little negro chap who had been left with a stone in his street battle, was sent into the tailor shop by Policeman Patrick Keeler of the East One Hundred and Twenty-sixth street station to have his wound bandaged. A big crowd gathered around the iron grating, about five feet square, in front of the window.

Suddenly the grating snapped and, screaming with pain and fright, the crowd tumbled into the hole to the cellar twelve feet below.

John Gilma, fifteen years old, of No. 1 East One Hundred and Thirty-first street, a one-legged boy, was found at the bottom of the struggling heap by Policeman Keeler. The lad was most comically hurt, suffering severe lacerations of the leg and with only one leg. He was taken to Harlem Hospital in an ambulance.

Others who needed treatment from Ambulance Surgeon O'Brien were:

Rose Storme, forty years old, of No. 1 East One Hundred and Thirty-first street.

Anna Miller, eleven, of No. 189 Park avenue.

Shush McKown, twelve, of No. 272 Eighth avenue.

Richard McNamee, five, of No. 5 East One Hundred and Thirty-first street.

Margie Dooley, eight, of No. 18 East One Hundred and Thirty-first street.

Thomas Harris, nine, of No. 287 Madison avenue.

William Turnbull, fourteen, of No. 5 East One Hundred and Thirty-first street.

After their cuts and bruises were dressed the injured were taken to their homes. The accident created tremendous excitement for blocks around and it was necessary to call out the police reserves to handle the big crowd. The rumor spread that dozens of persons had been killed in the collapse of a building and it was an hour before people ceased coming on the run from all directions.

THE BOSTON TEA PARTY MAY BE RE-ENACTED HERE.

Uncle Sam Will Dump 100,000 Pounds of Cargo in the Bay If It Be Not Exported Saturday.

Repetition of the Boston tea party, this time in New York harbor, became a possibility today when Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo instructed the New York Collector of Customs to inform Carter Macy & Co., New York Importers, that if 100,000 pounds of Formosa tea, rejected because it failed to reach the standard, be not exported by noon, Saturday, June 29, it will be summarily dumped into the briny waters.

The order followed a year of litigation during which the agents of the New York Board of Appraisers condemned the tea; the importers made vain application for a re-hearing; were allowed six months to comply with the exportation order; brought injunction proceedings and were finally reversed by the courts.

Ex-District-Attorney Says People Should Know Whether Justice Can Be Choked.

HE CRITICISES WILSON.

President Confers With Attorney-General on Appointment of a Special Prosecutor.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 28.—John L. McNab, whose resignation as United States District-Attorney was accepted by President Wilson in a curt letter of reproof, replied in what he calls "a double broadside to settle the whole thing."

"The President has accepted my resignation and the incident is closed," says McNab. "Even the eminent respectability of the President and his fulsome but necessary certificate of character to his Attorney-General cannot change the facts."

"The Attorney-General states that his reasons for continuing the Caminetti-Diggs case was that the Secretary of Labor desired the presence of Commissioner Caminetti, the father of one of the defendants. Why, then, did he insist upon continuing the case against the defendant Diggs, which had nothing to do with the case of Caminetti, who was summarily indicted?"

The excuse given for the continuance of the trial of the Western Fuel defendants is that the Attorney-General, who has a secret and private conference with these defendants and their attorney, was fearful that they might be convicted and that possibly they might be innocent.

SAVS M'REYNOLDS HAD BEEN ADVISED OF FACTS.

"If they were innocent they should have insisted upon being tried. If the Attorney-General can thus declare me innocent in spite of overwhelming evidence submitted to two grand juries, he can as easily declare me guilty against whom there is no evidence."

"If the Attorney-General is to be continued a court for the trial of such a case, the Commission is to be continued the better. If rich and influential defendants, with powerful political influence, can gain access to the ear of the Attorney-General and have their cases throttled and justice choked, then it is time that the American people should know it."

"The Attorney-General had before him my repeated warnings that political corruption was at work; that subornation of perjury had been practiced, and that if the Caminetti-Diggs case were continued the evidence would be destroyed and that the power of the Government to convict would have disappeared. He was informed that this case would be directly charged with corruption if the cases were postponed. With indifference to the rights of this office and the honor of the Department of Justice, he continued the case until autumn."

"The President announced that the department will be rushed in hot-blooded haste to try these cases. Why is it necessary to hasten now when it was unnecessary to make haste a week ago? If it was right in May to tell me to stop it, it is now wrong to say that the case must immediately proceed."

"Today I am driven to quit this office because my self-respect will not suffer delay. To-morrow the administration will proceed with the trial because it fears it will lose the public's respect. I was ordered to postpone 'until autumn' and resigned because I would not obey the Attorney-General's order to delay. Now with furious haste and the expensive attendance of some special counsel the administration is to rush to an early trial. Some special counsel is now to be retained for a princely fee to do what my office would have been able to accomplish as a matter of official duty. The mass of evidence accumulated through months of toil may now be used to force a conviction of these guilty defendants."

"This matter has never been one of personality. It is simply a question of principle. If my resignation from office and the consequent raising of public opinion will accomplish the result of convicting these flagrant offenders against the laws of the country, then I will feel that the effort has not been in vain."

WILSON CONFERS WITH M'REYNOLDS ON THE SCANDAL.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—President Wilson and Attorney-General Miller today had an early conference today to select a special prosecutor for the Caminetti-Diggs white slave cases and the Western Fuel company indictments in the Federal courts in San Francisco. It was said that an announcement would be made before the end of the day.

It is President Wilson's intention to secure Francis J. Heney if possible to take the cases. He is regarded as being especially desirable because he has no political interests with the Administration. Matt J. Sullivan and Thomas Hayden also are under consideration.

Representatives Kent and Baker have been mentioned as possible selections for prosecutors. Secretary Lane, a personal friend of Heney's, has been asked to use his influence to get the lawyer to undertake the work.

With the selection of a prosecutor and McNab's resignation the White House will consider the noted case a closed incident.

KAHN TO INSIST ON GETTING ALL THE PAPERS.

Representative Kahn of California declared today that he was still of the opinion that the House should require production of all of the papers in the case. Representative Hinebaugh declared himself satisfied with the announcement that the case would be pressed at once and will not urge a report by the Rules Committee on his resolution regarding an investigation by the House Judiciary Committee.

One thing that was being strongly emphasized in Administration circles today was the President's strong and emphatic endorsement of his Attorney-General when he declared himself satisfied that McNab's course was "prompted by sound and impartial judgment."

It was intimated that below the surface of the entire affair were influences which have not been uncovered but which may yet be. The fact that the entire attack has been concentrated on McNab's use of the word "revelation" to make inquiry as to what was really behind the whole affair, and it is expected that after the trials are under way there may be something forthcoming from the White House along this line.

CHICAGO, June 28.—Francis J. Heney of California is on a train between Chicago and Los Angeles and has not yet been reached by telegrams from here. It is reported that President Wilson telegraphed asking if he would accept the appointment as special prosecutor in the Western Fuel and Diggs-Caminetti cases.

Far from being somewhere in the wilds of Honduras, ignorant that his fiancée had just been married to another man, Russell H. Millward, explorer, was found resting comfortably in an apartment of the Hotel Ansonia today.

Mr. Millward had just learned from the newspapers that Miss Madeleine Sylvester had become Mrs. Charles H. Doll. But he did not let himself become perturbed at the news.

"I'm not surprised at anything happening in this crazy city," he said. "So long as I am in the jungle things go very quietly and comfortably with me. But as soon as I come back to civilization I get it from all sides at once."

"I suppose it's just this: Miss Sylvester found after thinking it over—and I don't blame her—that the excitement and variety of life here suited her better than hardback and beans with me in the jungles of Honduras. Of course she couldn't let me know she had changed her mind. When I am exploring I am sometimes beyond the reach of the mails for the better part of a year."

"Just the same she came extremely close to marrying me. We went to the City Hall about a year ago and got the license and were going to have the Mayor marry us right then. But I thought it wasn't showing much respect to my bride to be married without a clean shave. So we put it off till evening to give me time to get a shave and a hair-cut."

"About half-past seven, when everything was ready, some friends of mine thought it would be a good joke to steal the license. They broke into my apartment and stole the license and the wedding ring. There was no wedding that night. Next morning Madeleine had sort of lost her nerve. I guess. Anyway I said without her."

Mr. Millward said he had arrived in town Sunday and might start again for Honduras to-day or to-morrow.

Mr. Millward brought with him from Honduras some rare pieces of Maya sculpture which will go to the American Museum of Natural History.

Bills carrying out the Governor's recommendations were introduced in both Houses, but were not accompanied by emergency messages. Without emergency messages bills must lie on the calendar for three days before they can be finally acted upon. The failure of the Executive to accompany his requests with emergency messages was considered by the Legislature as an indication that the Governor is not anticipating an early adjournment.

The Republican Senators to-day issued this statement:

"The Republican Senators in conference, recognizing the great public necessity of legislation on primaries and elections, to correct existing wrongs, unitedly declare their readiness to support any fair bill from any source which does not abolish the State constitution, and for that purpose to unite with other Senators and confer with the Assembly as a means of obtaining reasonable legislation on this subject."

"The minority at this time protests against the Governor's course in failing to promptly communicate to the Legislature now convened in extraordinary session the subjects which he desires considered. By this delay he has kept the Legislature in idle session for more than a week at large expense to the Treasury and at the cost of further demoralization to public business."

FIREBOAT W. J. GAYNOR LAUNCHED AT ELIZABETH.

Miss Marian, Daughter of the Mayor, Christened the New and Powerful Vessel.

Miss Marian Gaynor broke a bottle of wine over the bows of the new fire boat for New York City and christened the boat William J. Gaynor, after her father, as the craft, to-day, slid into the water from the yards of the New Jersey Dry Dock and Shipbuilding Company at Elizabeth, N. J.

Commissioner Joseph Johnson went down on the fire boat New Yorker with a party of New York officials. Miss Gaynor went on the New Yorker. With the party were: Deputy Commissioner Alvaney, Captain McGowan, Alderman Higgins and others.

In length over all the boat will be 115 feet with 26-foot moulded beams, and her draught nine feet. She is to be fitted with compound engines of 550 horse power. The pumps will discharge 3,000 gallons of water a minute at a pressure of 180 pounds to the square inch. While not the largest or longest fire boat, Gaynor will be the most powerful boat of the fleet. The cost of the new boat will be $115,000.

COHALAN CHARGES PLACED BEFORE THE LEGISLATURE

Gov. Sulzer in Special Message Transmits Papers Filed by Bar Association.

URGES INVESTIGATION.

Case Will Go to a Joint Committee to Formulate Rules of Procedure.

ALBANY, June 28.—Gov. Sulzer today transmitted to the Legislature a report of the Grievance Committee of the Bar Association of New York concerning the charges preferred against Supreme Court Justice Daniel F. Cohalan by John A. Connolly. The Governor recommends in a special message a thorough investigation of the charges.

Connolly, a New York contractor, charged that Justice Cohalan before his elevation to the Supreme Court bench accepted approximately 55 per cent. of profits Connolly realized from city work obtained for him through Cohalan's influence.

Hearings on the charges were held before the Grievance Committee of the New York Bar Association, but Justice Cohalan refused to appear, claiming that the committee had no jurisdiction. Subsequently he requested Gov. Sulzer to present the entire matter to the Legislature.

The data brought out before the Grievance Committee was placed before the Governor to-day by Einar J. Chrystie, its secretary, who went over the papers and evidence with the Executive.

WHAT GOV. SULZER SAYS IN HIS MESSAGE.

In his message to-day requesting action by the Legislature, Gov. Sulzer, after quoting from Justice Cohalan's letter asking that the Executive refer the charges to the Legislature, says:

"On June 28, 1918, I received a report in writing with exhibits thereto annexed from the said Committee on Grievance of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York respecting this matter, and I considered it proper that the same be immediately transmitted to the Legislature for appropriate action in the premises."

"Accordingly, I herewith transmit to this Legislature, and as part of this message, at this time, copies of the said report of the said Grievance Committee, together with exhibits, and respectfully suggest that, pursuant to Article VI, Section II, of the Constitution, and the other provisions of law that may be applicable thereto, the same receive the immediate attention of this Legislature, and that a thorough and exhaustive investigation and examination be made and the true facts ascertained; that fair and full opportunity for their presentation be given all the parties interested, including the representative of the Bar Association of the City of New York, and that after such examination and hearing, in accordance with the Constitution and the laws of the State of New York, this Legislature take such action in the premises as shall be deemed wise, proper and expedient."

After the message had been read in the Senate and Assembly it was referred to the Committee on Judiciary without comment.

ASSEMBLY TURNS DOWN SENATE RESOLUTION.

Later the Senate adopted a concurrent resolution providing for the appointment of three Senators and three Assemblymen to formulate rules of procedure "for the removal of Daniel F. Cohalan from the office of Supreme Court Justice." Senators Murtagh, Pollock and Coats were named as the Senate Committee.

When the resolution reached the Assembly the leaders there discovered that the Senate resolution had been drafted from the form of resolution used in the case of Justice Hoke after the preliminary investigation of the Assembly Judiciary Committee. This was not satisfactory to the Assembly leaders, who declared it was in the form of prejudging Cohalan's case. They refused to concur and referred the resolution to the Judiciary Committee.

Later this afternoon the Assembly considered its reference to the Judiciary Committee and adopted a sub-resolution for that which the Senate had sent over earlier in the day.

The Assembly resolution provides that the message be referred to a committee composed of three Senators and three Assemblymen "to prepare rules and procedure for further action thereon, the committee to report to their respective houses at a subsequent convenient time."

A. J. Levy, J. L. Patrie and Simon Adler were named as the Assembly committee.

FORTY-TWO COUNTS IN REPORT OF GRIEVANCE COMMITTEE.

The report of the Grievance Committee contains forty-two counts, all of which, it states, are sustained by "prima facie evidence." It adds, however, that the Grievance Committee "has been unable to obtain any evidence to the contrary."

The forty-two counts contained in the report simply review the affirmative testimony adduced at the hearings.

A portion of one of the "findings" reads: "Said Cohalan had been active in the Democratic party and in the organization known as Tammany Hall in the city of New York for a long time prior to November, 1903, and at that time he was well known as a person who had influence over members of that organization and over such of them as might hold public office."

"Daniel F. Cohalan," the report continues, "in November or December, 1904, offered to said John A. Connolly, to use his influence with and thereby obtain orders from city officials for work to be done and materials to be furnished by the Victor Heating Company provided he received one-half the stock of the said company as a consideration therefor. This proposition was refused by the company, but thereafter it was agreed between Daniel F. Cohalan and the said company that he would use his influence with the President of the Borough of Manhattan for the purpose of obtaining for the said company orders from city officials for work to be done and materials to be furnished by it, and that in consideration of Daniel F. Cohalan's use of his said influence for that purpose he was to receive 55 per cent. of the net profits earned by the said company upon the said orders."

The report of the Bar Association makes no recommendations.

Illinois Attorney-General Upholds Bill Recently Passed.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 28.—In an opinion rendered this afternoon, Attorney-General Lucy finds that the woman's suffrage bill, as passed by the Legislature, is not unconstitutional, although he finds some objections to it.

LAW IS BROKEN AT RACE TRACKS, SULZER DECLARES

Orders Nassau District-Attorney to Prosecute Individuals and Associations.

ALBANY, June 28.—Gov. Sulzer today sent a letter to Charles N. Wyssing, District-Attorney of Nassau County, saying that, after examining the testimony taken before Judge Niemann relative to gambling at Belmont Park and Piping Rock race tracks, he is convinced that the anti-gambling laws "have been openly violated."

Judge Niemann, a committing magistrate, at Mineola yesterday, threw out of court the proceedings brought by the District-Attorney based on allegations by private detectives that they had placed bets with bookmakers.

The Governor calls the attention of the District-Attorney to certain sections of the Penal law concerning gambling and directs him to "take immediate action against the proper individuals, corporations or associations who have violated the law in this or in any other particular."

The Governor declares he will hold the District-Attorney "strictly accountable for the performance of his duty."

GOVERNOR'S ORDER FAILS TO REACH NASSAU OFFICIALS.

MINEOLA, June 28.—District-Attorney Charles N. Wyssing of Nassau County, who, according to reports from Albany, has been ordered by Gov. Sulzer to prosecute the Belmont Park management for allowing betting, based on the evidence put in by Burns' operatives, in the employ of a New York newspaper, was not here to-day or at his home or his office in Fort Washington.

It is not known if he has received the communication from the Governor. It is expected that, under the orders of the Governor, Mr. Wyssing will place the operatives and others under

MORTGAGE WAS A MYTH

Woman Sequestered $10,000 Claim That Does Not Exist.

The non-existence of a $10,000 mortgage referred to in the curious will of the late Clara Simon, who died four years ago, is held by a court case for determining the accounting of the estate by the sister of the decedent in a reported suit Surrogate Cohalan to-day by Leslie J. Tompkins. Mr. Tompkins was appointed referee in the case when the Congregation Talmud Torah Beth Avraham, the Bronx, objected to his accounting made by Mrs. Caroline Belmont of Philadelphia, the dead woman's sister, who reported finding no mortgage such as the will directed be turned over to the synagogue.

The will of Mrs. Simon was an aged document, curiously drawn, but in which there was nothing that proved a bar to its being probated. One of the bequests was $10,000 to "Caroline Belmont" who proved to be Isaac Stolowsky, cook at the Lebanon Hospital.
